SAMOA INDEPENDENCE DAY CELEBRATION

On the 1st of January 1962 Western Samoa became independent of New Zealand. Independence Day, however, is celebrated on every 1st of June and this day continues to be recognised by every Samoan around the world.

The major occasion has been celebrated for 59 years now. A sincere gratitude to our ancestors for fighting a goodd fight.

A public holiday has been granted to Samoa people every year today, in commemorating our late heroes

FOREVER GRATEFUL

SAMOA INDEPENDENCE DAY CELEBRATION

Samoa Police, Prisons and Correctional Services each year play a huge role in celebrating the Independence Day of Samoa. It is a day to remember our ancestors who have paved our freedom from colonization then.

It is in our history and it is something to think about so we can serve our country with all we can, to keep the peace and maintain it with all we can.

A wise man once said you can take the boy out of its country but you can never take the country out of the boy, so as we as Samoans, we are peace keepers, it is in our oath and we swore to serve our country until we legally discharge.

May God bless Samoa and Samoa Police, Prisons and Correctional Service

CHINESE PATHOLOGIST IN SAMOA

The SPPCS hosted a wrap up meeting with the Chinese team of Pathologists who have been in Samoa over a month to conduct autopsies of bodies that were subject of coronial enquires which were obviously some were in mortuary for over a year due to Covid Restrictions.

The team's findings have been submitted to the Office of the Attorney General for Court Proceedings before their departure.
